4.5. The above is considered to be a minimum level of qualifications. Amended May 4, 2006, by “Addendum to SBDC Director Salary Review and Selection Criteria Policy”

4.5.1. Addendum to SBDC Director Salary Review and Selection Criteria Policy

4.5.1.1. In accordance with the U.S. SBA review of the Colorado SBDC, it was determined that the current SBDC Sub-Center Directors’ salaries are widely inconsistent. Based upon this recommendation, the SBDC Lead Center has undertaken a salary review. This information reported by each Sub-Center host institution indicates a salary disparity. The SBDC Lead Center understands the advantage of an independent salary schedule for each host institution; however, the schedules have also contributed to a broad range of existing salaries ($50,000 to $70,000) for Directors. Recognizing that the Directors also have a number of other factors contributing to the range of salaries, like diverse local and regional economies, the SBDC Lead Center is recommending a minimum base salary of $50,000 for new hires. This recommendation is based in accordance with the Association of Small Business Development Centers (ASBDC) Certification Standards in that, “...The salary of an SBDC Sub-Center Director should be comparable to the annualized salaries established for similar positions in the area served by that particular Sub-Center with comparable responsibility. In educational institutions, a suggested level to consider is that of the annualized salary of an Assistant Professor, taking also into consideration the longevity of the Director in the program, and the professional background of the person who would occupy the position.”

4.5.1.2. The intent of this question raised by the SBA regarding salary is to assure that the SBDC Network is competing for the highest quality staff performance evaluation of SBDC Sub-Center Directors:

- 4.5.1.2.1. Demonstrated experience in business operation, manufacturing and finance;
- 4.5.1.2.2. Consulting skills appropriate to support small businesses in the development of:
 - 1. Marketing and Distribution Plans
 - 2. Business Planning and Strategy Development
 - 3. Financial Analysis
 - 4. Technology Resource Development
 - 5. Communication Skills and Leadership Abilities to Support Small Businesses
- 4.5.1.2.3. Appreciable knowledge of where to locate and how to develop resources in the areas that include:
 - 1. Manufacturing Technology Assistance
 - 2. Government Contracting and Procurement
 - 3. International Market Development
 - 4. Regulatory Compliance Issues

4.5.1.3. Criteria that include this combination of experience and skills will assist in assuring the full role of the SBDC Sub-Center Director. The role of the Sub-Center Director includes representation of the state, the local business community and the host institution; this role requires individuals with the highest possible competence. Due to the representation of various local entities the director is required to establish their primary residency in the community that the local SBDC is headquartered therein within a six month period of accepting the Director position.

4.5.1.4. Given the fact that the SBDC State Director is currently involved in the selection process of new directors and must concur with the host institution's preferred candidate selection—including the establishment of responsibilities, requirements for employment, and salary—the SBDC State Advisory Board will periodically review all job descriptions and proposed entry level salaries of newly hired Sub-Center directors in terms of the local market and the expectations of the SBA and the SBDC Advisory Board. In addition, the SBDC State Director will participate with the host institution when evaluating SBDC Sub-Center Directors' performance and salary reviews. This process will become a contractual provision of the current OBD/Host Institution "Interagency Agreement," which governs the SBDC network, effective in January of the 1997 program year.
