PUBLIC COMMENT

Notice Regarding Remote Attendance for Park County Planning Commission Hearing

Remote Attendance

The Park County Planning Commission is pleased to offer remote attendance options for our upcoming hearing through video conferencing technology. However, please note that remote attendance is offered as a courtesy and is not guaranteed. Technical issues, including but not limited to internet connectivity, audio and video disruption, or platform instability, may arise that are beyond the control of the Planning Commission.

Public Testimony and Record

For those who wish to make sure their testimony is included in the official public record, we strongly recommend either attending the hearing in person or submitting your comments in writing.

Remote participation does not guarantee that your comments will be successfully received or included in the public record due to the aforementioned potential for technical difficulties.

Submission of Written Comments

Written comments must be submitted to the Commission Secretary at planner@parkco.us before or immediately following the hearing to be included in the official record. Comments can be sent via email or mailed to the Planning Commission's office. Please ensure your comments are detailed and relevant to the topic at hand.

In-person Attendance

Attending in person is the most reliable way to ensure your voice is heard and your testimony is recorded. If you choose this option, please adhere to any public health guidelines or protocols that may be in place.

By taking these steps, you can ensure that your opinions and observations are included in the public discussion and archival records of the hearing. Thank you for your interest and participation in the community's development processes.
